HEALTH INSURANCE ENROLLMENT UNDER SOCIAL SECURITY

Number of persons by State and county

July 1, 1966

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND WELFARE

SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION

OFFICE OF RESEARCH AND STATISTICS

JULY 1, 1966

The 1965 amendments to the Social Security Act provided for the establishment of two complementary health insurance programs for persons aged 65 and over. One provides basic protection against the costs of hospital and related post-hospital services. The other provides supplementary medical insurance benefits to aged persons who elected to enroll.

This report presents data on the number of persons enrolled for benefits under each program as of July 1, 1966, the date the programs went into operation.

Table 1 presents data on the number of persons aged 65 and over residing in each State and outlying areas who were enrolled under each of the programs. Figures are shown for all enrolled persons, for persons entitled to social security retirement benefits, for persons entitled to railroad retirement benefits, and for aged persons not entitled to retirement benefits under either the Social Security or Railroad Retirement Acts. Table 2 presents similar data for each county in the United States.

DEFINITIONS

A. Area of Residence

"Area of residence" is based on the address to which the individual's monthly cash benefit check is being mailed. For persons not receiving such benefits, the mailing address given at the time they applied for health insurance benefits is used. Temporary or permanent changes of residence are reflected in the data to the extent that such changes are reported to the Social Security Administration by enrollees.

The areas of residence include the 50 States, the District of Columbia, American Samoa, Guam, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands. Also included are several foreign countries, although health insurance benefits ordinarily may not be paid for items or services furnished outside the named jurisdictions of the United States.

The primary divisions of the 50 States are, in general, counties. In Louisiana, however, these divisions are known as parishes. Alaska is divided into 21 economic areas, included here as the equivalent of counties. A number of cities in Maryland, Missouri, and Virginia which are independent of county organizations are reported separately. The divisions in Puerto Rico are called municipios. County data are not reported for American Samoa, Guam, and the Virgin Islands. Some addresses given by enrollees do not permit identification of county of residence; these are reported as "unknown" county.

B. Type of Enrollee

Enrollment data are reported for three types of enrollees:

1. Social security enrollees—Persons aged 65 or over receiving or entitled to receive monthly cash retirement benefits under social security as of July 1, 1966.
2. Railroad retirement enrollees—Persons aged 65 or over receiving or entitled to receive monthly railroad retirement cash benefits as of July 1, 1966.
3. Other enrolled persons—Persons 65 or over not receiving and not entitled to receive monthly benefits under social security or railroad retirement.

The three types of enrollees are not additive. About 265,000 persons were entitled to both social security and railroad retirement cash benefits on the basis of earnings under both programs. These people are reported as both social security and railroad retirement enrollees; they are, however, counted only once under "all persons enrolled."

C. Type of Insurance Coverage

Enrollment data are reported for the following types of insurance coverage:

1. Hospital insurance—The program that provides payments for part of the cost of hospital care, post-hospital extended care and home health services, and outpatient hospital diagnostic services.

2. Medical insurance—The program that provides payment for part of the charges for physicians' and other medical items and services not covered under the hospital insurance program.
3. Hospital and medical insurance—Coverage for benefits under both of the health insurance programs. Enrollment for both coverages is reported separately for "other enrolled persons," and consequently for "all enrolled persons," because some civil service annuitants are ineligible for hospital insurance but are enrolled for medical insurance. Since persons entitled to monthly social security or railroad retirement benefits are automatically covered for hospital insurance, enrollment for medical insurance in their case equals enrollment for both coverages.

D. Date of Record Summary

The reported enrollments are as of July 1, 1966. The data are based on information in social security records through the end of November 1966, which takes into account accretions to the file after July 1 of eligible individuals with retroactive entitlement to July 1, and deletions from the file of deaths occurring before July 1, 1966, but not reported promptly to the Social Security Administration.

Hospital insurance protection can be retroactive for as many as 12 months from the time an individual files his application. Thus, a person who attained age 65 before August 1, 1966, may apply anytime through June 1967 and still be entitled to benefits as of July 1, 1966. This provision does not apply to the supplementary medical insurance program.

Deaths of persons entitled to benefits are not always reported promptly. However, experience shows that all but about 0.1 percent of deaths reported for a given month are recorded in the master beneficiary records within 6 months. Although future updating of the record will reveal some changes in the number of enrolled persons as of July 1, 1966, the changes will be quite small.

E. Identification and Enrollment of Eligibles

The beneficiary records maintained by the Social Security Administration and the Railroad Retirement Board for paying monthly cash benefits were the primary means of identifying and contacting aged persons eligible for health insurance benefits. The 15½ million persons aged 65 and over on the social security and railroad retirement benefit rolls were contacted by mail in the fall of 1965 and through two subsequent mailings in early 1966 to offer them an opportunity to enroll for supplementary medical insurance. These persons are automatically entitled to hospital insurance.

The social security earnings records were used to identify and enroll those persons aged 65 and over who had been issued social security account numbers at some time in the past but had not filed applications for monthly cash retirement benefits. Current addresses were obtained from the Internal Revenue Service. In general, this group was still working and not eligible for cash benefits. However, they were entitled to hospital insurance and could voluntarily enroll in the supplementary medical insurance program.

Identification and enrollment of the aged who were not entitled to social security or railroad retirement benefits were obtained from welfare agencies and through use of television, newspapers, and other public media. All homes for the aged and nursing homes were contacted to reach their eligible aged residents. A joint Social Security Administration—Office of Economic Opportunity project was undertaken to assist in locating shut-ins and arranging group meetings for other hard-to-reach older people in urban areas. Similarly, the Rural Community Development Services of the Department of amounts are subject to annual change after 1968.

BASIC PROVISIONS OF LAW

The major health insurance provisions of the Social Security Amendments of 1965 are summarized here for convenient reference. The Social Security Handbook (third edition) should be consulted for detailed explanations. The text of the law is contained in volume I of a Compilation of the Social Security Laws. The volumes may be purchased from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., 20402 for $1.50 and $1.25, respectively.

A. Hospital Insurance Program

Nearly all persons aged 65 and over on July 1, 1966, were eligible for hospital insurance benefits. All aged persons entitled to monthly cash retirement benefits under the Social Security or Railroad Retirement Acts were automatically covered. Other persons aged 65 and over could establish entitlement to hospital insurance benefits by filing an application. Excluded from the program were persons not entitled to cash retirement benefits who had an opportunity for protection under the Federal Employees Health Benefits Act of 1959, those who were aliens with less than 5 years of consecutive residence, and those who were convicted of crimes against the security of the United States.

The hospital insurance program provides payment for a large part of the cost of hospital services in a participating hospital for up to 90 days in a "spell of illness" (a period beginning with the first day of hospitalization and ending 60 days after discharge from a hospital or an extended care facility.) The first 60 days of hospitalization are covered essentially in full after a deductible of $40. For each of the remaining 30 covered days in a spell of illness, the patient pays $10 of the daily cost. The program pays 80 percent of the cost of outpatient hospital diagnostic services furnished during a 20-day period, after a deductible of $20. Deductible and coinsurance

The program also covers the cost of up to 100 days of care during a spell of illness in a participating extended care facility following discharge from a hospital after a stay of 3 days or more, provided admission to the extended care facility occurs within 14 days after discharge. This part of the program began January 1, 1967. The cost of the first 20 days is covered in full; the patient pays $5 of the daily cost for each of the remaining 80 covered days. For the cost of post-hospital home health services, up to 100 visits during the year are covered, following discharge from a hospital (after a stay of at least 3 days) or from an extended care facility.

The program is financed on a long-range, self-supporting basis through a separate schedule of increasing tax rates on the first $6,600 of earnings, with the same rate for employees, employers, and self-employed persons. The rate was 0.35 percent in calendar 1966, rose to 0.50 percent for 1967, and is scheduled to increase until it is 0.80 percent in 1987 and thereafter. A separate trust fund has been established for the hospital insurance program. The hospital insurance trust fund will be reimbursed from general tax revenues for the costs of providing hospital insurance coverage for the almost 2.5 million persons not entitled to monthly social security or railroad retirement cash benefits.

B. Supplementary Medical Insurance Program

All persons entitled to benefits under the hospital insurance program and retired Federal employees not entitled to those benefits could voluntarily enroll in the supplementary medical insurance program.

The supplementary medical insurance program provides payment for 80 percent of the reasonable charges for physician services and other medical services after the patient pays the first $50 of such charges during a calendar year. The program covers the following: physician services, including home and office visits; up to 100 home health visits each year; diagnostic X-ray and laboratory tests; X-ray, radium, and radioactive isotope therapy; prosthetic devices; ambulance services; and the rental of durable medical equipment.

The program is financed by $3 monthly premiums from enrollees and a matching payment from general revenues of the Federal Government. The $3 premium is subject to biennial revision. A separate trust fund has also been established for this program.
